

British Journal of Industrial Medicine

MLCNY

51027000065853

RECEIVED
NEW YORK CITY
RESEARCH LIBRARY (W-1) 502
MAY 25 1972
TWO WORLD TRADE CENTER
15A 60-16
NEW YORK, N. Y. 10047

Assessment of modern audiological tests in relation to noise-induced hearing loss	T. J. Wilmot	125
Study of the mortality of female asbestos workers	Muriel L. Newhouse, G. Ross, J. C. Wagner, and Mary E. Turok	134
Mortality study of shipyard workers with pleural plaques	D. E. Fletcher	142
Electron microscope characteristics of inhaled chrysotile asbestos fibre	C. F. Powell	146
Microchemical study of the asbestos body coating	M. Governa and C. Rosanda	154
Iron and lung iron contents of coal workers in different coalfields in Great Britain	J. Bergman and C. Casswell	160
Exposure to iron oxide, chromium oxide, and nickel oxide fumes of steelworkers in steelworks	J. Graham Jones and C. G. Warner	169
Prevalence of emphysema	K. W. Ranasinha and C. G. Uragoda	178
Effect of lung function changes among different grades of byssinosis	M. Mostafa, M. Moselhi, A. R. El-Hinady, and M. N. Mostafa	184
Prevalence of cancer in the north-west of England 1962-68	W. R. Lee, M. R. Alderson, and G. C. Daynes	188
Analysis of the medical causes of absence from duty aboard South African merchant ships	Samuel Levy	196
Mortality of shift and day workers 1956-68	P. J. Taylor and S. J. Pocock	201
Morbidity of shift and day workers	P. J. Taylor, S. J. Pocock, and R. Sergeant	208
Biological effects of ultrasound on guinea-pig ear skin	Shirley A. Carey, J. C. Langan, and C. R. Ricketts	214
Malware and micellanea
Occupational health in Great Britain in 1970	R. S. F. Schilling	221
Chronic inorganic mercury poisoning treated with N-acetyl-D-penicillamine	B. F. Glendon and A. P. Hopkins	225
Book reviews		229
Information section		235