

Correction: Do differences in work disability duration by interjurisdictional claim status vary by industry and jurisdictional context?

Macpherson RA, Koehoorn M, Neis B, et al. Do differences in work disability duration by interjurisdictional claim status vary by industry and jurisdictional context? Occup Environ Med 2021;78:583-592. doi: 10.1136/oemed-2020-106917.

This article was previously published with an error.

The authors identified a coding error which led to incorrect adjusted predictions of work disability days paid to within-province and out-of-province workers. The correct values result in different estimated percentage increases in predicted days paid to out-of-province workers relative to within-province workers (table 2, table 3, supplemental table 3). However, the only text in the original article that has been updated on page 589 is as follows:

‘Overall, the absolute and relative differences in disability days paid between the two groups of workers increased as claim duration increased.’

Authors also identified that reference 4 in article was missed during the process. Reference 4 has been included and the remaining references have been renumbered accordingly.
